TWO MORE ARRESTS MADE FOR RUSTLING OF BEEF CATTLE IN NEVADA

Shortly after dark Saturday evening a big red touring car, driven by R. L. Mathias, of Ely, loaded with three cases of gasoline and other paraphernalia for a long campaign, stopped in front of the Mizpah hotel. In a few minutes Dan W. Edwards, of the Nevada state police, and Deputy Sheriff Williams entered the car and were driven away. Nothing was heard of them for 24 hours, when Edwards drove to the court house and delivered to Sheriff Malley Gard Kelsey, of Belmont, and Carl Hansen, of Duckwater. He charged them with cattle stealing as accomplices of Bartemas, whom Edwards arrested Christmas morning at the Locke ranch. These arrests, the long run and the securing of the hides as evidence were all made within the period of 24 hours.

Hansen was arrested at 2 o'clock Sunday morning at the Locke ranch, 120 miles from Tonopah. Kelsey was taken into custody at 5 o'clock Sunday morning by Edwards at Duckwater, 30 miles beyond the Locke ranch, where he was attending a dance.

Edwards also brought in three mutilated hides, which had been removed from cattle that Bartemas and Hansen and Kelsey are accused of stealing. Edwards said this morning to the Bonanza that the trip was a very hard one, on account of the severe cold.

After taking Kelsey and Hansen into custody, a thorough search of the premises was made. The mutilated hides were found, together with a gunny sack full of pieces of ears and other parts of the hides, which Edwards dug out of a warm spring in a field in front of the Locke house. He also stated that about the 1st of December there were about 40 head of beef cattle stolen from the ranchers of Hot Creek and that vicinity. These cattle were driven across the mountains to Warm Springs, which is about six miles south of the Locke ranch and there, on account of a heavy fall of snow, all trace of them was lost. The ranchers in the Hot Creek country had the best Indian trailers they could secure, but it was impossible to get any further trace of their cattle. Edwards, who had Bartemas and his associates under surveillance, was more close than ever in his watch over their actions, feeling absolutely sure that the cattle were still in that vicinity.

The beef cattle of which Bartemas and his associates are accused of slaughtering, were butchered on Christmas eve. Edwards had planned to make the arrest at 1 o'clock that day. These plans miscarried on account of the automobile which was to have carried him to the Locke ranch having been delayed, and he did not arrive until 1 o'clock Christmas morning. The use of an automobile in this case was absolutely necessary on account of the fact that it is impossible to get within a reasonable distance of the Locke ranch on horseback without being seen. On the trip out Deputy Sheriff Williams took possession of the wagon load of beef, which is in transit to Tonopah and will arrive here tomorrow.

Edwards said: "I wish to state most emphatically that Mr. Eugene Locke, who is the owner of the Locke ranch and an old and respected citizen of Nye county, was never under suspicion for one moment during this investigation. In fact, when I informed Mr. Locke at Duckwater of the arrest, he was dumbfounded. Mr. Locke had leased his ranch to Bartemas for three years and had returned a few weeks ago to again take possession of it. The lease expires March 1. On my way back to Tonopah I stopped at Joe Williams' ranch on Hot Creek and told them where they could find their cattle. Mr. Williams, accompanied by his neighbors, left this morning to secure them." Mr. Locke accompanied the officers to Tonopah and will be one of the chief witnesses for the state.

INQUIRY IS HALTED BY JURY'S REQUEST

SOME OF MEN IMPANELED SEEK FURTHER INSPECTION OF SUB-STATION

The inquiry into the cause of the death of Harry E. Mould and Adolph Maier, who were electrocuted at the Tonopah sub-station Christmas morning, was resumed this morning before Judge Dunseath, acting coroner. The only witness on the stand during the morning session was John Delk, who is an electrician and who was an assistant to Maier. He testified that he left the plant before the power was turned on and knew nothing of subsequent occurrences, particularly the tragedy itself. His examination was confined to a description of the plant and the manner in which it was operated.

Finally some of the jurymen expressed a desire to revisit the sub-station to be further enlightened regarding its operation and equipment, so the coroner took a recess and accompanied those of the jury who desired further information to the plant. The inquest was resumed this afternoon at 1:30.

TWO FACES OF ORE SHOWING IN ATLANTA

DRIFT BEING ADVANCED ALONG CONTACT ON 1750-FOOT LEVEL

Three feet of $30 ore is exposed in the face of the drift being advanced along the latite-shale contact from the branch west crosscut off the main southwest crosscut on the 1750-foot level of the Union Jack claim of the Atlanta Mines company. In the top of a prospect raise, put up at a point twenty feet north of the west crosscut, there is also exposed more than four feet of $40 ore. The raise is now up ten feet, says the Goldfield Tribune.

After being advanced forty feet from the west crosscut, in which distance assays of better than $70 per ton across a foot and a half and $30 across three feet and a half were obtained, the drift revealed the contact of the latite with the shale at a point where a slight fault in the latter formation cut off the values, for the succeeding fifteen feet. The fault was penetrated several days ago since which time there has been a steady improvement in the ore showing in the face. In the last two weeks the flow of water from the Atlanta workings has decreased from more than 300 gallons to slightly more than 200 gallons per minute.
